(PAF 3401) The professor gave us all space to participate in the ways that we felt most comfortable. The subjects that we go over in class follow various steps but the professor made it all less daunting by breaking it up and incorporating our ways of processing. I have retaken this class because I believed that I did not have the capacity to understand the material and most of all feared failing. Professor Valente has been the most accommodating with my method of learning and has validated me as a student to measure me of my capacities, for this I am extremely grateful.
(PAF 3401) PAF 3401, is an extremely challenging course if you're not good at statistics or if you're not familiar with Stata, but somehow Dr. Valente managed to make the work somewhat digestible. And when the work was too complicated or difficult she was always there via email, zoom, or after class. I don't have any complaints, she assigned loads of work, but she also put in her part and walked us through it. Thank you!
